IN SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES

SCHOOLS.

EASTERN HIGH SCHOOL.

With the passing of the first semester, four seniors left Eastern and three business graduates went from the school. Those seniors who received diplomas were Cyril Crilly, Flora Bandy, Florence Hedlitz and Margaret Davis. Honors were awarded to Margaret Davis.

Tuesday afternoon grade school graduates, numbering 170, and approximately thirty transfers from other Washington high schools were added to Eastern's enrollment. The school has had 1,000 pupils in the past year, an increase of 100 pupils. Because of the many newcomers and the few outgoers, Eastern has a much more crowded school. Many classes have been combined, making "standards" of a familiar sign in some classes.

Classes in German are being arranged for the afternoon session. A debate on "The Four-Point Treaty" took place in the assembly hall Friday. The debaters gave an interesting discussion of the subject, proving that they are preparing for essays on the disarmament conference. The subject was the one-thousand-dollar prize essay contest.

TECH HIGH SCHOOL. The Tech for Tech High School's annual spring play, "If I Were King," was formally announced yesterday by the faculty committee. Among those selected to play the various roles are: Philip R. Holmes, editor-in-chief; Thomas Linville, business manager; Oscar M. Shaw, literary editor; Elizabeth Hutchinson, Adelle Dyer, Margaret Morgan, literary contributors; Margaret Morgan, literary editor; Ethel Beach, Flinnia, Margaret, and Robert Barber, literary contributors.

A course in journalism has just been started at Tech. The class, taking the course number about thirty-five students. The course promises to be one of the most popular at the school.

The June graduating class has virtually completed the work on the year book, which is expected to eclipse all previous issues in beauty of design and illustrations. The book this year will be called "The Torch".

One of the features of the publication will be an attractive cover. Approximately 1,000 students have already been subscribed for the book. The staff of the publication includes: Thomas Linville, business manager; Oscar M. Shaw, literary editor; Elizabeth Hutchinson, Adelle Dyer, Margaret Morgan, literary contributors; Margaret Morgan, literary editor; Ethel Beach, Flinnia, Margaret, and Robert Barber, literary contributors.

The curriculum has been augmented this semester by the addition of a class in the history of drama. Only nine students have completed three years of English work are allowed to take the course, which is a new feature. Miss Stauffer, head of the English department.

Hugh Waesche, a member of the February graduating class, established a record in athletics by winning his entire four years at the school his record is unblemished for an absence or tardiness.

Lectures on drill regulations were substituted for the regular cadet drill Thursday. The drill was postponed because of the heavy snow in the streets.

Plans are being made for the formation of a new cadet company at Tech. The large number of male students who entered the school at the beginning of the current semester makes the organization of another company possible. Tech now has six cadet companies.

Two prominent social functions are being planned for the cadets in the near future. They include a dance to be given by Companies A, D and H at the Y. M. C. A. and a dance to be given at the same place March 17 by Company B, Company C, under the leadership of the Y. M. C. A. and a dance last night at the Cairo.

WESTERN HIGH SCHOOL.

Miss Edith Nichol, a graduate of the course in instructional household science, Pratt Institute, has been appointed supervisor of the Western High School lunch room, which opened for the first time this year Tuesday.

Miss Nichol had previously held the position of acting manager of the Laureate Inn, Grand Hotel, Quebec. Midyear commencement exercises at Western have been canceled and the seven graduates invited to participate in the ceremonies of the June graduation class. Diplomas will be presented to the graduates of the February class who ask for them. Dr. Elmer S. Newton, principal, announced yesterday.

WILSON NORMAL SCHOOL.

The last week has been marked by examinations in the academic department for all classes. Additional examinations have been held for students from high schools outside of Washington who have applied for admission. Nineteen students have enrolled for the midyear junior class. The line follows: Mary Louise Allen, Audrey Anderson, Dorothy Boggs, Ruth C. Columbus, Helen Burton, Margaret Davis, Irene Ford, Dorothy Guilford, Dorothy King, Elmer Heist, Orville Mable, Helen Rose, Margaret Douglas, Frances Burns, Evelyn Davis, Minerva Shoddy, Emily Brown, Frances Sanford, Ramona Newman. These students have taken the required physical examination for entrance.

The glee club, under the direction of Miss Berenice Randall, gave an interesting program at assembly Friday morning. The club has been very earnestly the last two months, as it has been called upon to take a leading part in number of school affairs. The officers are: Miss Bruner, Arnaud, Pearson and Carrington.

The school has distinctly felt the absence of Miss M. M. O'Connell, principal of Normal. It is hoped that she will return thoroughly recovered by the beginning of the week. Mrs. Florence Rogers, who has been acting as principal, has also been out of school during the last week on account of illness.

Feeding birds during the recent severe weather has been emphasized in all nature study classes. Students living in the suburbs have reported numerous white-throated sparrows, juncos, purple finches, cardinals, bluebirds, and robins. The birds are being fed in the schoolyard and in the grounds of the students.

The fourth number of Normal News will reach the printer tomorrow. Miss Thelma Fryer edits the alumni news. The paper is published weekly, especially those who have graduated from the Wilson Normal, are urged to keep Miss Fryer informed of matters of interest regarding their respective classes.

ARMSTRONG MANUEL TRAINING SCHOOL.

The opening of the new semester brought Armstrong to date by transfer from the grade cover 150 new pupils. This combined with inter-high accessions, will boost the February enrollment to well over 1,000 pupils.

The assignment of Miss Mary Powell Burill to the work of instructor in dramatic expression for the high school created a vacancy in the English department, which has been filled by the appointment of Miss Ora Weaver.

The basketball team's eastern trip netted two games won and one lost. By a score of 20 to 15, Armstrong lost to the Philadelphia Y. M. C. A. team at the Y. M. C. A. of Philadelphia. The team will be back in the city on Saturday.

Mass is usually held at 9 o'clock, before the morning session. At the last meeting, David T. Walsh of Massachusetts, who helped organize the Georgetown Union, was the speaker.

Rev. William S. Storck, S. J. of Baltimore, headmaster of the Georgetown Preparatory School at Garrett Park, took his final vows as a priest on Thursday. They were received by the Rev. John B. Creeden, S. J. president of the university.

Father Storck is one of the most successful headmasters of the preparatory school has ever had, coming to the opening of the present season as successor to the Rev. John A. Morning, now in the Philippines.

The Georgetown rifle team scored a victory over its old rival, Vermont University, last week. The score was 86 to 94. Perfect scores were made by Amend, Wrenn, McCann and Guilford of the Georgetown team. This week the Hilltoppers will shoot Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Arrangements are being made by Rev. John J. Toohy, S. J. coach of the debating team, for the winter season an all-Georgetown team defeated the best debaters from the University of Virginia and the University of North Carolina.

Two distinguished lecturers visited the School of Foreign Service last week and gave interesting lectures on the increasing responsibility of the well known Indian poet Tagore, and the increasing responsibility of the well known Indian poet Tagore, and the increasing responsibility of the well known Indian poet Tagore.

George Washington University has already made definite arrangements for a series of debates between the members of the Ohio Wesleyan and Swarthmore colleges. The question as agreed upon is: "Resolved, That the United States Should Recognize the Soviet Government of Russia."

The women's negative debating team will go to Ohio Wesleyan College, Delaware, Ohio, and debate this college March 3. The affirmative line-up will debate West Virginia College on the same night. Following these two debates, George Washington University will meet Swarthmore College on March 10, at Swarthmore College, Pennsylvania. These debates already have been the subject of much discussion.

The February issue of the Critic has been published. The account of the midyear examinations.

The Diamondback, weekly student publication of the University of Maryland, has expanded its editorial and business staffs to make the paper truly representative of both the college and the university.
